Three reasons Sage Summit will be better than ever in 2012.

Registration Details

Sage Summit 2012 is eight months away, but the anticipation is already building. Here are three reasons why attending should top your list of priorities for this year:

1. More opportunity to share your story and hear what's working for others.

Sage Summit is a gold mine for information sharing. Do you have a story or best practice to share? Is there a hot topic you want to hear discussed? Tell us about it. You could qualify to receive a free pass to the conference.

2. New learning tracks, sessions, and labs.

You asked us to update the content, retire outdated sessions, and invigorate the overall learning experience. We listened, and we're delivering. New learning tracks make it easier to find sessions that relate to your areas of interest, your role, and your product. You'll also find more hands-on labs and a better balance of sessions that cater to power users and product veterans. Learn about the new tracks.

3. One more day to explore the trade show.

By popular request, we're expanding the trade show schedule. Like no place else, Sage Summit gives you the opportunity to see and touch new technologies from Sage and our development partners. If you want to be in the know about what's new, you'll want to be at Sage Summit. Learn about the trade show.
